ISAAC WORKSHOP HELD AT MSU

Morehead State University was the site for a Integrating Science Across All Curricula (ISAAC) workshop, designed to enhance elementary and middle school teachers' integration of science and other subjects using a constructivist teaching approach. Among those participating in the session were, from left, Lisa Baldwin and Cathy Harris, Prichard Elementary (Carter County); Mary Thomas, Argillite Elementary (Greenup County); Dr. Sharon Pullen, MSU assistant professor of education and director of the ISAAC Project, and Bettye Masters, Flemingsburg Elementary (Fleming County). Constructivist teaching focuses on the teacher as a facilitator of learning. Participants attended a summer seminar and two semesters of follow-up workshops. Working in teams, the teachers developed projects for their classes which integrated science, writing, mathematics and the arts. Some participants obtained outside funding for their projects from community organizations including the U.S. Navy. The ISAAC Project, which was funded by an Eisenhower Grant, also funded mini-grants to defray costs of classroom supplies and equipment used in the projects. Assisting with the ISAAC workshop were project directors and MSU faculty members Dr. Dora C. Ahmadi, assistant professor of mathematics, and Dr. Robert Royar, assistant professor of English.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Program leaders are describing the milestone as "A Hard Act to Follow" as the inaugural eight students in the University of Kentucky's "Extension" Physician Assistant (PA) Program based at Morehead earned degrees.

The UK program, a cooperative effort with Morehead State University and St. Claire Medical Center, is located on the MSU campus. Students, who earned degrees in May, are:

*Marcie Adams of Wurtland, the daughter of Ival and Anna Adams, completed program pre-requisites at Ashland Community College and the University of Kentucky. She has volunteered several hundred hours at Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital Oncology Ward and the Kentucky Clinic Pediatric Outpatient Facility. She is a member of the American Academy of Physician Assistants, the Kentucky Association of Physician Assistants and the Joseph Hamburg Society.

Adams has accepted a position with Dr. George Borst who practices endocrinology and internal medicine in Ashland.

*Kim Bromagen lives in Mt. Sterling with her husband Patrick and two sons, Ryan and Brandon. She began the PA program with 15 years of experience as a registered medical technologist. She received the Academic Excellence Scholarship from the University of Kentucky Medical Center which is given to students who achieve at least a 3.5 grade point average.

Bromagen successfully passed her National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants (NCCPA) in April and will begin working as a PA in emergency medicine or family practice later this summer.

*Joseph Andrew (Andy) Edie lives in Morehead with his wife Claudette. He earned his B.A. degree in psychology from Illinois College in 1989 and an M.A. degree in experimental psychology from MSU in 1990.

Edie passed the NCCPA certification in April and has accepted a position as a physician assistant with St. Claire Medical Center.

*Mark Fairchild lives in West Liberty with his wife Alma, who works as a photographic archives specialist in MSU's Camden-Carroll Library. Before entering the PA program, he was a nursing assistant and cardiac monitor technician at St. Claire. He earned a B.A. degree in biology from MSU in 1989.

A member of the American Academy of Physician Assistants, the Kentucky Association of Physician Assistants and the Joseph Hamburg Society, he would like to serve as a primary care provider in the Morgan County area.

*Jennifer Hardin, the daughter of George and Mary Alfrey, lives in Morehead with her husband, Dean, and daughter, Gretchen. She earned a B.S. degree in dietetics from UK in 1989 and was a registered dietitian at St. Claire before entering the PA program.

During MSU's Academic Awards Week, Hardin was recognized as the outstanding PA student in the College of Science and Technology. She successfully passed her NCCPA in April and will work at Lexington Cardiology.

*Jennifer House, the daughter of Donna House of Williamstown, was enrolled at MSU as a biology major when she decided to enter the PA program. She is a member of the American Academy of Physician Assistants, the Kentucky Association of Physician Assistants and the Joseph Hamburg Society.

House, along with Laura Lueken, have accepted a position in cardiothoracic surgery at Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital.

*Lueken, the daughter of Patrick and Mary Anne Lueken of Ashland, attended Ashland Community College before applying to the PA program. She also received the Academic Excellence Scholarship from the University of Kentucky Medical Center which goes to students who have at least a 3.5 grade point average.

*Jill Short, the daughter of Glenna Short of Pippa Passes and Gleason Short of Garner, earned a B.S. degree in biology from MSU in 1996. She is a member of the American Academy of Physician Assistants, the Kentucky Association of Physician Assistants and the Joseph Hamburg Society.

Short has accepted a position in internal medicine with Dr. Loey Kousa in Paintsville.

“The class was hard working, mature and team oriented—a complete package,” said Bradford W. Schwarz, associate director of the program. “I am proud to stand alongside each of these individuals as fellow physician assistants and members of the health care team. I believe these folks will serve the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky with unparalleled quality and compassion.”

Being a part of the cooperative effort has been equally rewarding for MSU, according to Dr. Gerald DeMoss, dean of the College of Science and Technology. “We were pleased to be a part of this venture and it has been successful in providing a service for students in our region.”

Approximately 600 students have successfully completed the PA program since it began at UK in 1976. Its mission has been to attract students throughout Eastern Kentucky who will earn the Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Kentucky. After graduation, many of the new physician assistants will return to their homes throughout rural Kentucky to serve their local communities. The class of 1999, which consists of 15 students, recently began the year of clinical clerkships.

An extension of the program has been operating from the MSU campus since 1996. In March, 16 students were selected for the PA class of 2000 at Morehead and will begin their course studies with the fall semester on Aug. 17, Schwarz said. “There is a possibility that the program will be expanded,” he said.

Additional information on the PA program at Morehead is available by calling (606) 783-2051.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University has always treasured its alumni and none more so than its first graduate, the late Russell Williamson of Inez.

This fall, two residents from his hometown will attend the University as the newest recipients of the Russell Williamson Memorial Scholarship, sponsored by the MSU Foundation, Inc., and the Williamson family.

Jennifer Haney and Michael C. Marcum, graduates of Sheldon Clark High School, Williamson's alma mater, will be among the entering freshmen when MSU begins its fall semester. Both students plan to major in pre-pharmacy.

Haney has always known she would go to college. "I knew I wanted to work in a medical field," she said. Conversations with a family member who is a pharmacist encouraged her to think of this as a profession.

And coming to MSU was not new to this daughter of MSU alumni Gary and Alice Haney. The other person in this family of four is brother Brent who has one more year of study to earn his degree from the University.

At SCHS, Haney was a member of the Beta and Key clubs and a cheerleader. She describes herself as being rather shy but says the best thing about her is that she's a Christian.

Marcum, the son of Brenda and Craig Marcum, is looking forward to the fall semester. "I am excited about getting started," he said.

While in high school, Marcum was a four-year member of the SCHS basketball team and held membership in the Beta and Pep clubs. During the summer months, he worked in sales in Pikeville.

Qualified applicants for the Williamson Scholarship include having at least a 3.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale, be a participant in high school athletics and a graduate of Sheldon Clark High School. Now in its third year, the scholarship which covers tuition costs is valued at $2,270 per year.

Williamson Scholarship

Selection of one male and one female student is made by a committee of the school's faculty members, according to Darrell Clark, SCHS guidance counselor who coordinates the selection process. "Mr. Williamson would be so pleased that these two students, who have so much potential, will be attending his alma mater in his memory," he said.

Williamson was a banker and a well known coach in Kentucky and longtime supporter of MSU. He served as the first president of the MSU Alumni Association, Inc., from 1928 to 1932.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Singers from the community are invited to join the Morehead State University Chorus for its 1998-99 season.

The choir is designed to bring singers from the community and the University together to perform music of all styles and from all periods, according to Dr. Greg Detweiler, MSU assistant professor of music who is the new director of choral activities.

The University Chorus will meet on Mondays, from 7 to 9 p.m. in 121 Baird Music Hall. All interested singers are invited to attend.

"Many people in the area have fond memories of their experience in choral groups in high school and college," Dr. Detweiler said. "One of the things we want to accomplish with this group is to provide an opportunity for those people to continue to experience the joys of making music together."

Dr. Detweiler has taught at Mercer University, Idaho State University, Southeastern Louisiana University and Albertson College in Idaho. He has sung with Robert Shaw, Fred Waring and the U.S. Army Soldiers Chorus.

The University Chorus will perform during the semester as part of the Choral Festival in November and the Candlelight Carol Concert in December.

Additional information is available by calling the chorus director at (606) 783-2480.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Four faculty members in Morehead State University's Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy will present their creative productions at a conference entitled "Women Artists Coming of Age: Flying at Fifty and Beyond" which will be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 11-12, in Louisville.

The faculty, who teach English at MSU, are Carol A. Mauriello and Kathleen Winter, instructors, and Dr. Patti C. Swartz and Dr. Lynne Taetzsch, assistant professors.

Think "aging" means "decline and decay?" The conference will explore the alternatives. The program will feature more than 40 women artists and include exhibits, workshops, readings and performances.

The conference will be held at Louisville's Clifton Center at 2117 Payne Street. It will be hosted by Art! Art! Barking Dog Dance Company and the University of Louisville Women's Center, with support from the Kentucky Arts Council, Kentucky Foundation for Women, African-American Women's Literary Series and Balance Design, Inc.

Pre-registration is $20 for the general public, $15 for senior citizens and students. The cost for single events, when purchased in advance, is $10 for the general public and $8 for seniors and students.

Conference admission at the door is $25 or $20 for senior citizens and students. The cost for individual events is $12 or $10 for senior citizens and students.

Additional information is available from Dr. Taetzsch at (606) 783-2136.

APPALACHIAN WRITER CELEBRATED

New York Times best-selling author Sharyn McCrumb was named the third recipient of the Thomas and Lillie D. Chaffin Celebration of Appalachian Writings Award during Morehead State University's Appalachian Celebration. Presenting the award to McCrumb was Dr. Mark Minor, chair of the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy. McCrumb's latest book, "The Ballad of Frankie Silver," continues her "ballad" series which includes "Little Rosewood Casket," "She Walks These Hills" and "If Ever I Return, Pretty Peggy-O." She is a member of the National Advisory Board of MSU's Kentucky Folk Art Center. The literary award was established through a bequest to the MSU Foundation from the late Lillie Chaffin, who was a Pike County native and free-lance author. An associate poet laureate of Kentucky, Chaffin received numerous awards for her work.

MSU'S 1998 APPALACHIAN TREASURE AWARD RECIPIENTS

Kicking off Morehead State University's 1998 Appalachian Celebration was the presentation of the Appalachian Treasure Award to folk artists Ronald and Jessie Cooper of Flemingsburg by MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. The handmade rocker, in which Mr. Cooper is seated, is the tangible symbol of the award which is given to recognize dedication in promoting and preserving the cultural heritage of Appalachia. The Coopers have completed nearly 1,000 pieces of folk art in some 14 years.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will host activities for family and friends of its students during the University's 19th Annual Family Weekend, slated for Friday through Sunday, Sept. 11-13, on the campus.

"Events have been planned for a relaxing and fun weekend for all campus visitors," said Susette Redwine, University Center programs and special events coordinator.

The activities begin on Friday evening, Sept. 11, with a picnic on the lawn of Fields Hall, hosted by MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin and his wife Bonnie, for students enrolled in "MSU 101" classes. Family members will have the opportunity to greet their son or daughter's instructors and classmates.

Later that evening, a multi-media presentation by Barry Drake on '60s Rock and Roll "When the Music Mattered" will begin at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. Drake, described as "a walking encyclopedia of rock music," grew up in the New York City area where he saw such headliners as Buddy Holly, Chuck Berry, Jimi Hendrix and Janis Joplin.

The lecture, sponsored by the Student Government Association, is free and open to the public. Donations, to benefit the Student Emergency Loan Fund, will be accepted at the door. The fund, made possible by the Family Association and SGA, provides students with interest-free loans of up to $20.

On Saturday, Sept. 12, it's a Golf Scramble at SunnyBrook, MSU's public golf course, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The contest is a nine-hole, best ball tournament with a shotgun start. Pre-registration is required for the tournament and participation is limited to the first 72 registrants.

The MSU Volleyball Eagles are in action during the weekend, with their Saturday's competition scheduled to start at 4 p.m. in Wetherby Gymnasium when the team will be in action against Southeast Missouri.

All parents are encouraged to attend the Family Association meeting scheduled for 4:30 p.m. in the Len Miller Room, in the Academic-Athletic Center (AAC). The once-a-year meeting includes a few business matters and the election/installation of officers for the 1998-99 Family Association. Volunteers will be asked to serve on the Advisory Committee to select projects and address issues brought forth by the Association.

Family Weekend
2-2-2-2-2

An all-you-can-eat complimentary pre-game Tailgate Party will be held at the AAC from 5 to 6:30 p.m. In case of rain, the tailgate party will be moved to the East Lobby of the AAC. MSU's Eagle football team will be in action against the University of Butler Bulldogs in Jayne Stadium where kick-off is set for 7 p.m.

The University invites all family and friends to join fans for an Eagle victory at the football game. Students may purchase tickets for their guests at a reduced rate prior to noon Friday, Sept. 11. Advance tickets may be purchased in the Athletic Office in the AAC or in the Student Activities Office on the second floor of ADUC. For this special offer, no ticket requests will be accepted by phone or mail or held at the gate.

On Sunday, Sept. 13, area churches invite all visitors to attend worship services. Later in the day, the Eagles Volleyball Team will again see action in Wetherby Gym against Eastern Illinois in a competition set for 3 p.m.

Throughout the weekend, residence halls will host some special events. Visitors are urged to check with their son or daughter about the activities and times of events planned for a specific hall.

Campus guests are encouraged to register for Family Weekend which will allow their offspring to be eligible to win one of four $250 scholarships to be awarded. Winners will be announced during the football game and attendance is necessary. In addition, the residence hall with the highest percentage of family members participation during the weekend will receive a cash award from the Residence Hall Association.

Additional information on the weekend is available by calling Redwine at (606) 783-2071.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will kick off its "1998 Campus Giving Campaign" on Saturday, Oct. 3, with announcement of the campaign theme and goal.

The announcement will be made during half-time of the MSU and Elon College football game which will begin at 7 p.m. in Jayne Stadium on the campus.

This will mark the historical beginning of an annual campus-wide general fund raising initiative for the University, according to Dr. Michael Seelig, campaign chairperson. The two-month campaign will conclude on Dec. 3 with announcement of total campaign pledges during half-time of the MSU and Murray State University basketball game.

"This will be a campaign of giving, participation and spirit," Dr. Seelig said. "Every individual employed at the University will be provided an opportunity to contribute in support of funds for scholarships, program enhancements, professional development and other University areas of need."

This also will be a campaign of volunteers, said Dr. Seelig, adding that approximately 40 individuals from across the University have stepped forward to offer their time and energies to plan, conduct and evaluate the campaign effort.

"So many busy people, respected by their colleagues, have been so willing to become actively involved. It is personally uplifting to be among such a positive and enthusiastic group of individuals who are motivated to be of service to others," Dr. Seelig said.

The Office for Development and Alumni Relations began receiving pledges from individuals as soon as they heard that there was going to be an on-campus campaign. This "willingness to give" on the part of University faculty and staff members will enhance the prospects of the institution receiving substantial contributions from major individual and corporate donors, Dr. Seelig said.

"The Campus Giving Campaign will serve as the heart and soul of all of the University's annual fund raising efforts and will be the impetus for attracting additional resources necessary to provide the University with greater fiscal flexibility in achieving its priorities," he said. "The University community will receive far more than it gives, not only in dollar amounts, but also in a renewed sense of cooperation and partnership."

Additional information on the campaign is available by calling (606) 783-2033.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, KY.---Morehead State University and its public radio station, WMKY 90.3 FM, are working with the National Weather Service to make severe weather alerts easier to hear in the area.

When the NWS needed tower space for an antenna and a place to house a transmitter, MSU provided the space in WMKY's transmitter building and tower and also volunteered emergency power from the station's standby generator.

Installation of a new 100-watt transmitter, 162.425 frequency, has been completed in Morehead. The weather service also is placing transmitters at West Liberty and Frenchburg and in other areas of the state.

Many parts of this region have not been able to receive weather alerts or have very poor reception, making reliability of these broadcasts uncertain, according to Keith Kappes, MSU's vice president for university relations. He said it is expected that the new transmitters will improve the ability of area residents to receive vitally important, perhaps even life saving broadcasts via their home weather alert radios.

"The University is pleased to cooperate in this important project with the National Weather Service," Kappes said. "All citizens in this area, including university students, local school systems and area hospitals, now will have better warning of serious weather conditions."

Anyone who owns an alert radio or plans to purchase one of the newer models should verify that the radio is compatible with the new frequency.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Many a book has been written about nature. Learning to count is something that children are taught at an early age.

In the book, "Counting in the Wood," written by George Ella Lyon and photographed by Ann Olson, these two elements of life are combined to make learning and one's environment an easy lesson. Released in February 1997, the book which guides readers on a walk through the woods, is now in its second printing.

Nineteen of Olson's 38 photographs from the book are on display in the Strider Gallery, Claypool-Young Art Building on the Morehead State University campus, through Sept. 15.

It was a privilege to do these photographs, Olson said of her work. "There are so many things happening at once (in nature), it's so complex." During the nearly four months from April to July, she took more than 1,000 slides in the woods surrounding her home in rural Elliott County. Her pleasure comes from being able to share some of the treasures.

"The exhibit is good for all ages, older people, those who have been in the woods, everyone," Olson said.

She hopes the book will inspire others to explore nature. "There are so many wonderful things to see if we would only take the time to look," she said.

This was the photographer's first venture at merging her work with that of a writer. "It was a real challenge to find the things that make the words come to life." In the lines of the book, some of the things Lyon writes about are 10 trees, nine vines, six tracks and five nests one of which is home to baby birds. "For some of the photographs, careful observation and patience were needed as much as photography equipment," Olson said.

"You have to pay attention," she added, noting that most of the photographs were taken in the early morning or evening hours.

For this project, the editor invited Olson to submit photographs to be used in the book. She had previously worked with the author, her long-time friend, on a photo-autobiography entitled "A Wordful Child."

The exhibit will travel next to Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn., for display.

The Strider Gallery is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. There is no charge for viewing. Additional information on the exhibit is available from MSU's Department of Art at (606) 783-2766.
